

2008 CAR CONFERENCE

HOUSTON

WELCOME TO HOUSTON

Thanks for joining us for IRE's 2008 Computer-Assisted Reporting Conference, the 14th installment of what has become the premier gathering of CAR experts.

This is a watershed moment for computer-assisted reporting. As news organizations put ever-increasing emphasis on their Web sites, more interactive and data-driven stories are taking center stage. Crusty editors who never gave much thought to the intricacies of crunching campaign finance numbers, for example, are now pushing their staffs to get that data, get it online and make it easy for the public to inspect.

But getting and posting data is only half the battle. Once you've got it, you've got to unlock its secrets.

Discovering the best ways to do that will be a theme running throughout this year's conference.

Over the next four days, you will have the opportunity to learn the latest skills, techniques and tips from many of the top CAR practitioners in the business. Some sessions deal with specific beats, including criminal justice, city hall, education or politics. Others offer skills that you'll use no matter what you're investigating.

A number of panels and hands-on classes will help you take data and maximize its use on the Web. We're offering advanced classes Thursday that meld cutting-edge CAR with online and programming skills. For the first time, you'll see an advanced hands-on primer covering frameworks for making data interactive on the Web.

For those who are just beginning, a special mini-boot camp series provides classes similar to those offered in the intensive boot camps we hold several times each year at the IRE and NICAR headquarters at the Missouri School of Journalism. These classes begin with basic spreadsheet calculations and encompass CAR techniques for both investigative projects and deadline stories.

If you're struggling to choose between two competing panels, don't worry. Shortly after the conference, all of the tipsheets will be available as a CD-ROM compilation, or IRE members can download individual tipsheets from the IRE Resource Center, www.ire.org/resourcecenter.

Don't forget to check out the Demo Room where new software and CAR techniques will be on display in a more informal setting. And spend some time getting to know your colleagues between sessions. The greatest strength of IRE and NICAR is our membership and the tremendous amount of knowledge and experience that each of you brings.

We're also here to celebrate some of the great work of the past year. On Friday evening we will present the Philip Meyer Awards, which honor those journalists who used social science methodology to add depth, context and meaning to their work.

We know you'll leave this conference with new skills, story ideas and approaches for presenting your work. Thanks for coming, and thanks to the hosts, the speakers who volunteer their time and all the sponsors who make these four days possible.

Mark Horvit
Executive Director, Investigative Reporters and Editors

CONFERENCE SPONSORS

IRE and NICAR would like to thank these organizations for their contributions and support for this conference:

Hosts

- Hearst Newspapers
- Houston Chronicle

Thanks to the Missouri School of Journalism, which provides space and resources to IRE and the National Institute for Computer-Assisted Reporting. NICAR is a joint program of IRE and the school.

Fellowships

Congratulations to our 2008 CAR Conference fellows.

Minority Fellowships

This minority fellowship program for professional journalists is supported by the Philip L. Graham Fund, Chicago Tribune Foundation, and IRE.

- Kimetris N. Baltrip, Kansas State University
- Nishat Kurwa, Youth Radio

Jennifer Leonard Scholarships

For women who have worked in journalism for three years or less or who study journalism, these scholarships were established by IRE member David Cay Johnston to honor his wife, the president of the Rochester Area Community Foundation and a national leader in promoting ethical standards for endowments.

- Devin C. Varsalona, The Center for Public Integrity

Panels & Hands-on classes

See schedule, p. 5-10

There is no pre-registration required for hands-on classes, except for the Mini-Boot Camp and Web Frameworks Advanced Boot Camp. (See conference boot camp details on p. 4.) For all other hands-on classes:

- Attendance is on a first-come, first-served basis.
- Please arrive on time. Lessons move quickly, and instructors may not be able to accommodate late-comers.
- Class size is limited to the number of computers available. At the instructor's discretion, a limited number of standing-room attendees may be allowed.

IRE Board of Directors Meeting

The IRE Board of Directors will meet for routine business on Thursday at 2 p.m. in LaSalle Ballroom B. The meeting is open to members.

Philip Meyer Journalism Awards Presentation

6 p.m. Friday, LaSalle Ballroom B

Reception with cash bar

For more on the 2007 winners, see p. 3

Reprints and Tipsheets

Granger Foyer

Copies of outstanding and innovative examples of computer-assisted reporting are available along with extra tipsheets. If you brought copies to share, please contact an IRE staffer in the reprint area. Don't forget that all tipsheets will be available from IRE's Web site and the Resource Center a short time after the conference.

E-mail access

The Demo Room (Nautile, first floor) provides computers to check your e-mail. (Fri. and Sat. only) The hotel also offers free wireless internet service in public areas.

Reminders

- Make sure you wear your nametag to all IRE events. Before you leave the conference, please drop off your nametag holder at the registration desk or in other deposit boxes in the main hall. We will recycle them.
- Please set cell phones, pagers and PDAs to silent or vibrate while in the sessions. The speakers and fellow attendees will appreciate it.

Don't forget your evaluation forms

Your feedback helps us plan future events. Complete your evaluation form online at www.ire.org/training/houston08/eval. You will be entered in a drawing for free registration for the 2009 IRE CAR Conference.

Exhibitors & Recruiters

Meet exhibitors and recruiters and learn about products and services of interest to journalists. (LaSalle Foyer)

- Caspio, Inc. - Come see how journalists are leveraging the power of the Caspio Bridge framework to rapidly create online forms, surveys, reports and searchable databases without programming at a Brown Bag with Caspio, 1 p.m. Saturday, Granger Ballroom A. (Bring your lunch, dessert and coffee will be provided.)
- U.S. Census Bureau
- Office of Justice Programs
- Society of Environmental Journalists

Greater Houston Convention and Visitors Bureau

The good times will roll at the first-ever CAR Jazz Bash at the Red Cat Jazz Café in downtown Houston.

Jazz Bash - Friday

Investigate the night life at Houston's famed Red Cat Jazz Café on Friday night. Enjoy the camaraderie of your CAR colleagues, along with some great jazz at this IRE fundraiser. The venue combines sophistication and good times with a French Quarter-like atmosphere and some of the best Cajun and Creole cuisine in town. If you missed the advanced tickets, remaining tickets will be sold at the conference sales desk for $20 (price includes two drinks). Doors open at 8 p.m.; live music starts at 9. (Red Cat Jazz Café, 924 Congress St., 713-226-7870.)

PHILIP MEYER AWARDS

Congratulations to the winners of the 2007 Philip Meyer Journalism Awards, recognizing the best uses of social science research methods in journalism.

RECEPTION

A reception will be held at 6-7:20 p.m. in LaSalle Ballroom B

This year's entries again demonstrated the power of advanced analytical tools and the amazingly diverse questions they can help answer. The winning entries covered cheating on standardized tests in public schools, questions of equity in the death penalty and questions about how insurance claims are handled nationwide.

Other notable stories included a statistical review of electronic voting machines; the connection between property taxes and disparities in school funding; complaints about public housing; and how popular market commentators fare in their predictions.

The Meyer Awards are in honor of Philip Meyer, the Knight Chair in Journalism at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Meyer is the author of "Precision Journalism," the seminal 1973 book (and subsequent editions) that encouraged journalists to incorporate social science methods in the pursuit of better journalism. As a reporter, he also pioneered using survey research for Knight-Ridder newspapers while exploring the causes of race riots in the 1960s.

The awards are administered by the National Institute for Computer-Assisted Reporting (a joint program of Investigative Reporters and Editors and the Missouri School of Journalism), the Knight Chair in Journalism at the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication at Arizona State University, and IRE.

2007 Winners

First Place:

The Dallas Morning News for "Faking the Grade," a three-day series that uncovered strong evidence of cheating on standardized tests by more than 50,000 students in Texas public and charter schools. Reporters Joshua Benton and Holly Hacker followed up on the paper's groundbreaking 2004 investigation of cheating at the district and school level by analyzing a huge public records database of the scores and answers of hundreds of thousands of individual students taking the tests during a two-year period. The series prompted the state to announce stricter controls over test-taking conditions in Texas schools and to adopt the cheat-detection statistical methods used by the paper.

Second Place:

The Atlanta Journal-Constitution for "A Matter of Life and Death," a four-day package of stories that documented how Georgia has failed to follow through on capital punishment reforms promised after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in 1972 that the state's application of the death penalty was "arbitrary and capricious." Reporters Bill Rankin, Heather Vogell, Sonji Jacobs and database specialist Megan Clarke led a team that hand-built a database of more than 2,300 murder convictions since 1995 by traveling to more than 100 of the state's 159 county courthouses, and researcher Alice Wertheim created a database of all Georgia Supreme Court death penalty decisions since 1982. They analyzed this data with multiple regression analysis to demonstrate wide variations in application of the death penalty by demographics and geography, prompting the Legislature to consider changes in the capital punishment laws and the state's chief justice to take steps to improve its review of such cases.

Third Place:

The Kansas City Star for "Insurance: Service or Shenanigans," a three-day series of stories and follow-ups that used a national consumer complaints database of nearly 35 million records to rate more than 2,400 insurance companies by complaint ratios. Reporters Mike Casey, Mark Morris and David Klepper spent nearly a year gathering and analyzing the national data along with more than 10,000 pages of records to demonstrate how responsiveness to consumer concerns varied widely by company, geography and type of coverage. Since the project ran, state and national legislators have called for a number of measures to address problems documented in the paper's analysis.

CAMP HOUSTON

The 2008 CAR Conference offers two specialized training series — one for CAR beginners and one for experienced CAR journalists.

CAR Mini-Boot Camp

The popular Mini-Boot Camp offers an introduction to computer-assisted reporting, based on IRE and NICAR's popular 6-day CAR Boot Camps. The Mini-Boot Camp provides 10 hours of hands-on instruction in Internet, Microsoft Excel spreadsheets, Access database manager, insights on how to apply CAR in news stories and beats, plus opportunities to practice in open lab and ask questions of veteran instructors. This option is limited to 36 pre-registered participants.

If you signed up for the Mini-Boot Camp, you will be assigned to a red or green team. (The red or green dot on your nametag is a reminder.) The Red Team will attend hands-on classes in Travis I; the Green Team meets in Travis II. See items marked "MINI BOOT CAMP" in the schedule.

Web Frameworks Advanced Boot Camp

In Houston, up to 15 pre-registered participants will sample a new advanced boot camp, an intensive series of hands-on classes designed to take you from the basics to a fully functioning data-driven application in Django, the Web framework that drives award-winning projects like EveryBlock, PolitiFact, and The Washington Post's congressional votes databases.

All hands-on classes in the Web Frameworks Advanced Boot Camp will be held in the Lamar Room. See items marked "WEB BOOT CAMP" in the schedule.

Friday

- Objects, Models and the ORM: The foundations of frameworks, the object, the model and the object relational model, or ORM.
- Prepping your data: How to turn your data into the foundation of your app. Here we talk about relational data, good model design and putting that data into your models.
- Using the ORM to get data: All that data we put in? Now we start to get it out by learning the foundations of the ORM's query syntax.

Saturday

- Design by URL: Used to be, a URL went to a static file. In a framework, a URL is a critical component of your application.
- Views: The view is where the work gets done. Information from the request goes in and data for your templates goes out. Here we take another step toward putting it all together.

Sunday

- Templates are what your users see. Here we talk about how to take the data passed from the view and turn it into something your designers can start to work with.
- Wrap up, show off: We'll wrap up with questions and show off some tricks, like feeding Google Maps, Google Charts, Twitter and some other flashy things with Django.

Publish Your Data Without Programming

Caspio's point-and-click framework for Rapid Database Publishing powers over half of the nation's Top 100 newspapers.

Show-and-Tell Brown Bag Lunch

1 p.m. Saturday, Granger A

Come see how journalists are leveraging the power of Caspio Bridge to rapidly create online forms, reports and searchable databases without programming.

BREAKTHROUGHS

FUNDING IRE'S FUTURE

We invite you, our loyal membership, to invest in the future of IRE

by donating or pledging to IRE's endowment fund. When you do, you will help us raise a stable, long-term source of funding for IRE's mission of fostering excellence in investigative journalism.

If you recognize the importance of keeping governments, businesses and individuals accountable, then please pledge to the IRE endowment fund this year. All endowment gifts make a difference because, taken together, they form a strong foundation that continues to grow for years to come.

And, for a short time longer, the John S. and James L. Knight Foundation will give $1 for every $2 you donate or pledge under a $1 million partial matching program. What an excellent way to stretch your philanthropic dollars.

Many sincere thanks to the hundreds of IRE members who have supported the drive already. We had a record-breaking end-of-year drive this past December, when more than 350 individuals rose to the occasion and donated and pledged more than $85,000. This turned into more than $125,000 for IRE with the Knight Foundation match. Thanks again!

To Make a Pledge:

...during the conference, please drop by the sales desk in the LaSalle Foyer and fill out a pledge form and/or make a payment to the Breakthroughs drive.

...when you get home, please visit the Breakthroughs page on the IRE Web site: www.ire.org/endowment

Questions? Please call or e-mail IRE's development officer, Jennifer Erickson, at jennifer@ire.org or 573-884-2222.

DATABASE LIBRARY

The IRE and NICAR Database Library maintains a collection of federal government databases covering a broad range of news topics. The datasets can provide the backbone for investigations, infographics, maps or Web-based interfaces. NICAR provides data-analysis services for news organizations and provides assistance to journalists trying to resolve data problems.

The August 2007 collapse of the I-35W bridge in downtown Minneapolis demonstrated the power of knowing how to find and use data on deadline. Within 48 hours, IRE and NICAR's Database Library provided National Bridge Inventory data to more than 150 news organizations. The data helped establish the inspection history of the failed highway bridge and enabled reporters to localize the story with data on bridges nationwide. See The IRE Journal (Nov./Dec. 2007) for more about how journalists used CAR to cover bridges.

Other recent NICAR collaborations with news organizations include:

- Mapping disparities in property taxes for KDFW-Dallas.
- Uncovering hotspots in bank ATM robberies with KHOU-Houston.
- Assisting the Portland Press Herald in Maine with its examination of dangerous drivers with suspended licenses.

IRE and NICAR staff can provide customized database analysis or mapping tailored to your project and budget. We collaborate closely with news organizations to create stories backed by high-quality research.

Get help with raw data. The Database Library can transfer data from magnetic data tapes to CD-ROM. Our staff can help download/import/format large datasets, too.

NICAR academic adviser David Herzog discusses a mapping project with former data analyst Mike Pell.

Ask Us!

Staff will be available throughout the conference to answer your questions about data and CAR for your news organization. IRE members can place data orders or preview datasets at the conference, too.

"What IRE and NICAR can do for you" will be presented in the Demo Room (Nautile) at 12:50-2 p.m. on Friday and Saturday.

Data for breaking news, projects and beats

- Transportation (air safety, roads, waterways, hazardous materials)
- Elections (federal campaign contributions)
- Health (pharmaceuticals, medical devices)
- Business (home mortgages, wage violations, federal contracts, SBA loans)
- Public Safety (crime, bridges, dams, firearms dealers, workplace safety, consumer products)
- Environment (toxic releases, hazardous sites)
- Federal Spending (payments to states, federal grants, arts grants, Social Security payments)
- Demographics (county and state migration, Social Security Master Death Files, mortality)

Get the big picture by accessing the Database Library's archived data. Many collections cover decades, and past years are available at low cost.

Find data fast

- Set up a customized online account – for individuals or news organizations – including special pricing for our entire database collection. Choose data by topic and access the latest updates as soon as they're available.
- Start your stories faster with government data that arrives in user-friendly format with Database Library readme files and supporting documentation. The service was created to help you devote your time and resources to other reporting tasks.
- Use quick searches of aviation data following a plane crash to find reports of service difficulties, previous accidents or incidents and registration information of that plane.

Contact the Database Library at 573-884-7711 or visit www.ire.org/datalibrary.

UPCOMING EVENTS

2008 IRE Conference

Miami, June 5-8

Hosted by The Miami Herald and El Nuevo Herald

Make your plans today to join IRE in Miami for four days of hot investigative reporting discussions and the presentation of the 2007 IRE Awards.

Highlights include:

- Panels touching every beat, including special tracks focused on elections, business, broadcasting, editing, international topics, government spending, public safety, education and more
- Special focus on the Web in reporting, storytelling and presentation.
- Showcase panels featuring leading voices in journalism
- Broadcast Show-and-Tell Room
- Tips for CAR and data in investigations, plus hands-on training for beginners
- Mentoring opportunities

Register at www.ire.org/training/miami08.

IRE's room block at the InterContinental Miami expires May 9.

In recent years, the room block has filled before that date.

Computer-Assisted Reporting Boot Camps

Looking for more hands-on training? Check out the 2008 Boot Camp schedule. Details and registration information online at www.ire.org/training/bootcamps.php

Advanced Stats Boot Camp

Reporters can move beyond basic CAR to statistical analysis. Return to your newsroom with the ability to craft statistics into stories that count! Hosted by the Walter Cronkite School of Journalism and Mass Communication at Arizona State University. Apr. 4-6 — Tempe, Ariz.

CAR 6-day Boot Camp

Visit IRE and NICAR headquarters at the Missouri School of Journalism for this intensive introduction to spreadsheets, databases and acquiring data for news stories. Mar. 25-30 — Columbia, Mo. May 18-23 — Columbia, Mo. Aug. 10-15 — Columbia, Mo.

Mapping Data for News Stories Boot Camp

Participants will learn how to uncover interesting news stories by mapping data with geographic information system (GIS) software. Aug. 22-24 — Columbia, Mo.

Watchdog Journalism

This training program for small to mid-sized newsrooms or bureaus of larger papers is made possible in part by generous grants from the Ethics and Excellence in Journalism Foundation and the Las Vegas Sun, Barbara J. Greenspun, publisher. To find out how to bring this training to your area, contact David Donald, ddonald@ire.org.

Upcoming workshops:

- March 8, Memphis, Tenn.
- March 14-15, Oklahoma City
- March 29-30, Des Moines, Iowa
- Apr. 5-6, Urbana-Champaign, Ill.
- July 23-27, Unity '08, Chicago

Unleashing the Watchdog Workshops, held in partnership with the American Society of Newspaper Editors, feature top editors and trainers sharing techniques, tips and years of experience on how to get watchdog journalism done, especially from reporters covering beats and daily stories. Better Watchdog Workshops help reporters learn the investigative skills that keep government and business accountable and to produce enterprising and informative stories. These programs cover how to guide reporters in the effective use of the Internet, open records laws, computer-assisted reporting and anonymous sources.
